

I think they should leave it alone. It is nice to get home from a hard day at work and not have the dam phone ring and have someone trying to sell or beg for money. I don't know why in the hell when we get something that works someone has to try to take it away. Just leave things the way they are.